HOCKING COLLEGE WELCOMES CHANGE

FOR THE AUTUMN SEMESTER OF 2021, HOCKING COLLEGE ANNOUNCES BIG CHANGES TO THE CAMPUS, ACADEMIC PROGRAMS, ATHLETIC ENDEAVORS, AND MEDIA.

At Hocking College, starting a new academic year always means changes and adaptations, but this upcoming 2021-2022 Academic Calendar Year might see some of the biggest changes yet.

Equine Arena

The new Equine Arena construction is underway and is scheduled to be completed for the Spring of 2022. This new building will house hands-on learning facilities for Hocking College's Equine Studies programs in the School of Natural Resources.

Outdoor Fitness Equipment

Thanks to a grant focused on access to physical fitness during the COVID-19 pandemic, Hocking College installed new fitness equipment along the bike bath, specifically for use by students, staff, and community members who travel through campus on the Hockhocking Adena Bikeway.

Cabinetmaking Degree

In addition to the physical additions to campus, the college will be making changes to its curriculum in the Autumn semester of 2021, including offering a new Cabinetmaking and Architectural Millwork degree. This degree is a 2-year intensive program designed to give students a hands-on education in the design, construction and installation of commercial and residential interior architectural woodwork.

Athletic Fields

In upcoming semesters, major changes will be coming to campus buildings and infrastructure, as Hocking College plans new baseball, softball and football fields. Groundbreaking for the new Baseball and Softball fields took place on August 19, 2021 and campus visitors will begin to see changes to Robbins Crossing, ponds and parking lots as construction begins on these new fields.

New Women's Flag Football Team

With growth of athletics in mind, Hocking College will be launching a Women's Flag Football team in the 2021-2022 school year, thanks to a recent grant provided by the NJCAA Foundation, NFL FLAG and RCX Sports. This new program will be the 13th varsity sport offered at Hocking College.

Bike Rentals at the Nature Center

The Hocking College Nature Center is now offering bike rentals to staff, students, and the community. Bikes can be rented between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Hocking College's off-campus ventures are also seeing changes and improvements coming in the upcoming Academic Calendar Year.

The Lodge at Hocking College

On August 19, 2021, The Lodge at Hocking College hosted its Grand Opening event. The Lodge has rooms and event space available for rent. The bar located in The Lodge serves drinks made by Starbrick Brewing and Black Diamond Distillery, two entrepreneurial ventures of Hocking College's Fermentation Science programs.

International Student Housing

A new International Student Housing complex is currently being renovated in Nelsonville, OH. It will be available for international students to rent and commute to campus, although an expected completion date has yet to be announced.

Hocking College's newly constructed Equine Arena building, set to open alongside its outdoor arena area in 2022.

Bicycles, with helmets and binocular pouches, now available for rental at the Hocking College Nature Center.

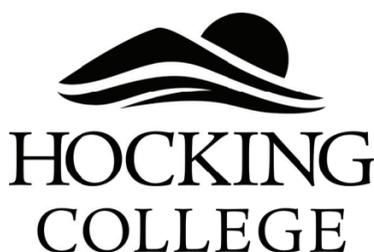

Dr. Young throws the first pitch at the groundbreaking event for the new Baseball and Softball Fields on Hocking College Nelsonville Campus

The Lodge at Hocking College, after years of renovations and upgrades, hosts its Grand Opening event in August 2021.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHT

PARKS AND MUSEUM EDUCATION PROGRAM MAKES HISTORY COME ALIVE

Since its inception, Hocking College's Parks and Museum Education Program has become renowned for training experienced and talented educators who specialize in making the history of Southeastern Ohio come alive.

The emphasis in this program is placed on providing students with the hands-on experience they'll need to confidently lead tours, initiate group discussions, design and develop interpretive sites and execute living history subjects and techniques.

Two essential mediums this program uses to prepare students to become parks and museum educators are the Hocking Woods Nature Center and Robbins Crossing.

The Hocking College Nature Center offers students the opportunity to work with captive wildlife such as raptors and reptiles. This center even has even has a planetarium to educate students about astronomy and night interpretation. Hocking College recently moved and renovated its Nature Center in Spring of 2021.

Robbins Crossing is a collection of authentic log homes that allows students to practice living history presentations in period clothing, designed to engage visitors in the skills and lifestyles of the past including blacksmithing, wood stove cooking and woodworking.

Visit the Hocking College Nature Center and Robbins Crossing at the Hocking College Campus:

NEW PROGRAM DIRECTOR: PATRICK QUACKENBUSH

“Our future happiness, financial security, and comfort are deeply intertwined with these natural connections. Helping others find their way to understand how they are connected is vital to our entire planet’s health.”

Patrick Quackenbush, the new Program Director of Parks and Museum Education, believes that the more connected people feel to nature, the more they'll appreciate all of the natural gifts that Planet Earth has to offer. In his new role at Hocking College, he hopes to further the connection between people & nature, both within his students and with the community as a whole.

Quackenbush is an alumnus of Hocking College, where he earned an Associate Degree in Applied Sciences and certificates in Wildlife Interpretation and Wildlife Management. He has held roles at Blue Rock State Park and Hueston Woods State Park, and has worked as a Ranger for the Army Corp of Engineers and a Naturalist Supervisor for the Ohio State Parks & Watercraft division. His connections with the local outdoor community, his experience working with diverse groups and age ranges, and his commitment for sharing a love of the outdoors will all factor in as he designs curriculum and develops new career opportunities for his students.

Quackenbush hopes to inspire students to create bonds and partnerships within the community through their work at the student-run Nature Center, Robbins Crossing historical village, and Lake Snowden. Students will take part in hikes and living history presentations in addition to their classroom time, providing unique hands-on experience and furthering enthusiasm for the curriculum that they are learning. In his estimation, all prospective students need to succeed in his program are a passion for the outdoors and history, an enthusiastic work ethic, a strong sense of curiosity and, “the ability to look down the trail and see around the bend.”

For more information on Hocking College's Parks and Museum Education Program, contact Patrick Quackenbush via email: quackenbushp@hocking.edu.

WAILIN WAYNE WEEKEND: OHIO'S WINDY 9 BRINGS ANOTHER MOTORCADE TO NELSONVILLE

On July 29, 2021, The Wall that Heals motorcade visited Hocking College Campus and rode through Nelsonville, OH. This month, another annual motorcade event hosted by Ohio's Windy 9 will visit during its 5-day ride through Wayne National Forest and the surrounding country.

The 8th annual Wailin Wayne Weekend begins on Wednesday, September 8, 2021 and ends on Sunday, September 12, 2021. Participants will also have the opportunity to enjoy the local scenery and parks, visit local museums, canoe or kayak along the Hocking River, and more.

For more information, visit the Wailin Wayne Weekend website: wailinwayneweekend.com

PAWPAW SEASON

In Southeastern Ohio, the native Pawpaw tree bears unique fruit, which ripen in late Summer, usually September of each year. The Pawpaw fruit is celebrated most notably with the annual Ohio Pawpaw festival held at Lake Snowden. In 2021, the 23rd annual Ohio Pawpaw festival will take place over the weekend of September 17-19. At the festival, you can expect to find pawpaw beverages, foods and goods, as well local food trucks and craft vendors with non-pawpaw related items.

Visit ohiopawpawfest.com for more information and to purchase tickets!

Our local industries also get involved in the pawpaw spirit outside of the festival. Jackie O's Brewery in Athens, OH has brewed its Paw Paw Wheat beer, and Little Fish Brewing Co. in Athens, OH has brewed a Pawpaw Weizen beer annually, as they receive inventory of the fruit. Black Diamond Distillery in New Straitsville, OH distills Pawpaw Moonshine, which can be purchased while inventory lasts at local State Liquor Stores.

If you're wondering what to do with pawpaws you might find, we recommend eating the fruit chilled atop of a bowl of vanilla ice cream or frozen yogurt, or making a jar of creamy Pawpaw Topping to add to your favorite dessert.

PAWPAW TOPPING
INGREDIENTS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 1 pound pawpaw fruits 1/2 cup water 1 tbsp + 2 tsp lemon juice 1/2 cup sugar 1/4 tsp vanilla extract 	DIRECTIONS <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Wash & peel pawpaws, place in medium pot with water and lemon juice. 2. Cook until soft. Strain with sieve or cheesecloth. 3. Return fruit pulp to pan. Add sugar, and cook on low heat until mixture thickens (about 1 hour) 4. Remove from heat, add vanilla, and stir well. 5. Serve warm or cooled.

HOCKING COLLEGE HISTORY

A RICH HISTORY OF HOCKING COLLEGE

John Light Hall at Hocking College Nelsonville Campus, with Downhour Residence Hall behind

The origins of Hocking College in Nelsonville, Ohio can be traced back to Autumn of 1968 when its predecessor Tri-County Technical Institute officially opened. Dedicated to providing technical training to local residents, the TCTI was built on the campus of the Tri-County Joint Vocational School, which is now the Tri-County Career Center.

When the Tri-County Technical Institute opened, it employed 28 instructors and served 234 students. Then, in 1969 the TCTI received a charter from the Ohio Board of Regents allowing the school to grant degrees in 13 technical programs.

During the 1970's The Tri-County Technical Institute continued to reach a series of professional milestones. The first of these was their school's inaugural commencement ceremony held in June of 1970. The graduating class consisted of 117 students, making it the largest graduating class for a technical institute in the state of Ohio's history.

Although Hocking College has experienced many changes over the years, one aspect of the school has remained steadfast from the very beginning: its ongoing commitment to helping students in Southeastern Ohio and its neighboring border states cultivate success both in and out of the classroom.

Now, Hocking College houses its main campus in Nelsonville, OH and branch campuses in New Lexington and Logan. It offers over 50 Associates Degree-track programs, and 13 Certificate programs.
